

Alternative/Affordable Food Resources

Port Townsend: The Port Townsend Food Co-op offers direct wholesale purchases to members. Membership fee is $2 at the start of each that you shop there. If you don't shop there in a given month, you don't pay anything.
414 Kearney St., Port Townsend
385-2883

Port Townsend: Sunfield Farms offers a work-based CSA (Community Supported Agriculture) program to people with low income. Work and learn about organic gardening on Sunfield's beautiful farm in exchange for fresh, organically grown produce.
Port Hadlock
385-3658
www.sunfieldfarm.org
info@sunfieldfarm.org

Port Angeles: Good to Go! Natural grocery offers a buying club service for groups or individuals to order bulk items at wholesale price, many organic options available. Make your order by Tuesday of any week and pick it up on Thursday.
1105 S. Eunice St., Port Angeles
457-1857
tsmaddox@olympen.com

Forks: J&P Produce, in addition to selling fresh, organic and local produce will soon offer a space in their store for community members to can their own foods.
Hwy 101 Forks
374-9360